

SANUM-KEHLBECK

YOUR PATH TO MICROBIAL BALANCE

Second and third Generation of SANUM-Kehlbeck

A passion for generations

When a therapy can inspire not only three generations, but also the world.

► Overcoming a serious illness, Heinrich Kehlbeck could feel the power of SANUM preparations. This experience had a lasting impact and led him to found the SANUM-Kehlbeck, by merging the companies IBICA and SANUM back in 1973.

Ever since then, the exclusive rights to the use of the microbial strains needed for the manufacture as well as the special manufacturing processes according to Prof. Dr. Günther Enderlein belong to the Kehlbeck family.

The family run enterprise in the third generation, located in Lower Saxony, Germany, distributes its proven as well as its newly developed preparations in more than 40 countries around the globe. The continuous expansion of the SANUM remedy portfolio provides the means for a comprehensive, holistic and biological treatment of numerous acute and chronic diseases. The quality of the remedies is a top priority for all generations and is ensured by an extensive control system.

SUCCESSSES

IN ACUTE AS WELL AS CHRONIC AREAS

► The application areas of the SANUM remedies are very diversified. They are applied for acute and chronic diseases of the cardiovascular system, for degenerative diseases of the connective and supportive tissue, as well as for bacterial, viral and fungal infections.

They are also used in the veterinary field for a variety of diseases. Depending on the symptoms and the course of the disease, treatment is carried out with one or several remedies in accordance with a detailed therapy protocol.

THE SANUM-THERAPY

Unique form of therapy that has a natural regulating effect on the balance of microorganisms, the internal environment and the immune system in the organism.

THE PRINCIPLES

OF THE SANUM THERAPY

► In nature, life is determined by recurring cycles with restoring and degrading processes, which exchange information and depend on each other. Disturbances in one system therefore inevitably affect the others and can lead to lasting changes.

This also applies to the relationship between humans and microorganisms. A healthy, inner milieu is the prerequisite for a well-functioning symbiosis.

If this is disturbed, it leads to changes in the microbial ecosystem of humans. Different regulatory systems in the organism are impaired which is a cause for the development of diseases. The restoration of the natural regulatory capacity of the organism and thus the symbiosis of humans and microorganisms promotes the healing process and is a central goal of SANUM therapy.

BACK IN BALANCE

WITH THE POWER OF THE MICROORGANISMS

› The symbiosis with certain microorganisms is fundamental for human health. The entire body is colonized by microorganisms and their evolutionary forms (bacteria and fungi). They are found, among other places, in the intestines, in the lungs, on the skin and mucous membranes, even in the blood and in the genetic material (DNA). In addition to the formation of various metabolic products, the microorganisms also exert important regulatory functions on the body systems.

Disturbances in this community of life (dysbiosis) are, as current research results show, the basis for the development of diseases.

The goal of SANUM therapy is to maintain and restore the healthy regulatory function of microorganisms and the symbiosis, which can support health-promoting processes in the body systems. To achieve this, three different elements are used in SANUM Therapy.

THE THREE ELEMENTS OF THE SANUM-THERAPY

System regulation

with Myco preparations

› for the treatment of body systems and organs

with carboxylic acid preparations

› to support the cell metabolism in the different systems

Base regulation

with base preparations

› for the supply of bases and minerals to restore the acid-base balance

SANUM diet (light)

› change of diet for a better inner milieu

Immune regulation

with Bacto preparations

› general immune modulation in case of too weak or excessive immune reaction

› for prophylaxis

› in case of therapy blockades

with SANUKEHL® preparations

› pathogen-specific immune modulation

› in acute and chronic, persistent infections and silent inflammations

OVERVIEW OF THE SANUM REMEDIES

► For the treatment of various diseases, different groups of remedies are available to the therapist.

Therapists have good experiences with applying the homeopathic remedies from fungal cultures in cases of infections, diseases of the connective and supportive tissue and circulatory disorders. According to experience, the remedies from bacterial cultures have an immunomodulating effect and strengthen the body's immune system. The SANUKEHL® remedies have been an integral component of the SANUM-Therapy since the 1980s. They provide the therapist with a unique approach in the complementary treatment of chronic infections and inflammations. The organ preparations and preparations from plant extracts are applied in accordance with the homeopathic drug picture. The selection of remedies for the regulation of the acid-alkaline balance and the provision of vital and micronutrients complete the line of SANUM remedies.

The SANUM remedies are prescribed by doctors and homeopaths and, in Germany, they are restricted to being sold in pharmacies only. A competent team of medical and scientific experts is available for therapists to answer questions about the SANUM-Therapy.

GOOD MANUFACTURING PRACTICE (GMP)

► These guidelines are internationally valid rules that stipulate, for example, that all manufacturing steps must be documented in detail and production processes are recorded.

A document management system that has been developed in many years of work, safeguards the reproducibility and traceability of the products.

Additionally, an elaborate training system warrants that every employee is working in accordance with the latest standards.
